A. Content & Audience

1. Did your peers clearly understand your site's purpose and target audience?

   Yes, both my peers clearly understood the site's purpose and target audience of the website.

2. What suggestions did they make to improve your site's content or messaging?

   They suggested adjusting the look of the website to make it more appealing as I didn't have a lot designed back then. As well as a missing third link at the time.

B. Design & User Experience

3. How did your peers respond to your site's design (layout, color, typography, or organization)?

   They reminded me that I was lacking a link to my third webpage and helped me sort that issue out. They also commented on the lack of color and creativity that was on my website. I adjusted that too after work. The webpage also didn't scale well beforehand which I also addressed.

4. Did they find the design effective in communicating your message and engaging users?

   They did find the design very limited but after the changes made I think it was definitely an improvement from what they had seen.

C. Functionality & Performance

5. What issues did your peers identify with features or interactivity on your site?

   First off, at the time my css file was not complete so the issue present was that there was not anything to access. The HTML validator found issues with the images I added as I had an unnecessary width and height tag on them.

6. Did they note any pages or elements that loaded slowly or inconsistently across devices or browsers?

D. Accessibility & Usability

7. What feedback did you receive about accessibility (e.g., alt text, color contrast, keyboard navigation)?

The contrast accessibility at the time did not get a good score. I have since edited the color of the webpage and what is incorporated into the design.

8. What can you improve to make your site more inclusive and user-friendly?

   I added a meta description to the page. I also improved the alt text of the images in my website.

E. Action Plan

9. What did your peers like most about your site?

   My peers most liked the idea behind my site. That being the ability to rate and review shows and also watch trailers on the webpage.

10. What two improvements will you make based on their feedback, and how will you implement them?

    I attempted to fix the errors in my html code and also improve the design by adding more colors and easier access between webpages.
